

10-DAY INTRODUCTORY COURSE TO FIELD AND RESEARCH AND MONITORING:

WHO IS THIS COURSE FOR:

- People working in the field of conservation and assisting with field research and conducting monitoring in the terrestrial and marine environments.
- People interested in different research methods and learning how to apply these in the field for their own research or to assist researchers.
- People working in the guiding/tourism industry who are interested in research methods and assisting visiting researchers in the field.
- Anyone who is planning to or is currently completing an ecology, conservation or environmental sciences qualification.
- Anyone who is interested in being a volunteer for organisations that offer volunteer programmes that include research and monitoring.

WHAT WILL YOU LEARN:

- ✓ Conservation principles & ethics.
- ✓ Basic ecology & ecological principles.
- ✓ Research & monitoring techniques.
- ✓ How to use a field guide effectively.
- ✓ Conducting vegetation surveys with Alien Invasive Plants as a case study.

COSTS:

R32 000.00 per person.

It Includes:

Food, Accommodation, Specialist Trainers, Course Material and Merchandise.

Dates:

1 August – 12 August 2025
20 August – 31 August 2025

www.kukamacollege.co.za

@kukamawildlifecollege

info@kukamacollege.co.za

kukama wildlife college

KUKAMA
WILDLIFE COLLEGE

REASONS FOR COMPLETING THIS COURSE:

- ✓ Learn internationally recognised techniques.
- ✓ Gain hands-on experience in the field.
- ✓ Collect data that contributes to real conservation decisions.
- ✓ Build practical skills for a career in conservation or eco-tourism.
- ✓ Strengthen your CV with a certificate listing all modules & techniques.

FUTURE OPPORTUNITIES WITH THE KNOWLEDGE AND SKILLS GAINED:

- ✓ Entry-level conservation or fieldwork roles.
- ✓ Volunteering in research projects locally or abroad for organisations that have vegetation and animal monitoring programmes.
- ✓ Supporting researchers as a guide or eco-tourism professional.
- ✓ Further studies in ecology, conservation, or environmental sciences.

APPLICATIONS NOW OPEN. MAKE A REAL IMPACT.

 www.kukamacollege.co.za

 info@kukamacollege.co.za

 @kukamawildlifecollege

 kukama wildlife college

KUKAMA
WILDLIFE COLLEGE